MANCHESTER HIGH SCHOOL

1987 ANCHOR

MANCHESTER, MASSACHUSETTS 01944

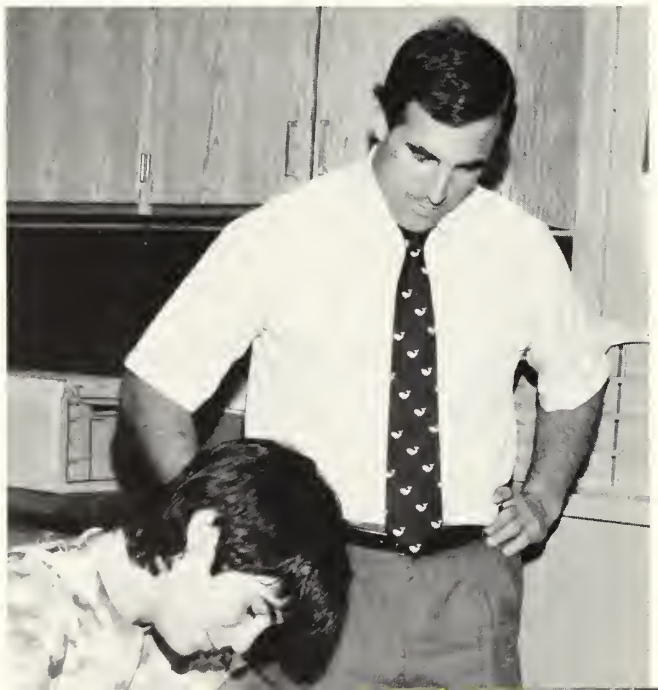
Principal's Message

"The class of '87, the class of '87, the class of '87 . . . " Like the popular song that gets stuck in your brain and replayed for days, the recurring video that seems non-erasable for me is the scene at the fall sports rally in 1983. As a new principal I watched Mr. Nalley put the crowd through the ceremonial war chants and came away with one overwhelming perception-that freshman class has "it." I was not sure what "it" was. Certainly it was spirit, pride and passion. These were the superficial indicators, but perhaps, I thought, it was also a hint of depth and a fullness of character.

I was right. You have had much success both academically and athletically. You have been leaders who have constantly set a tone that was positive and reasonable. When budget problems threatened extra-curricular programs your class made a user-fee program work. But, most importantly, you have done all of this with enthusiasm and a keen sense of self-improvement that will always be highly respected by the faculty and administration. We all hope that we had an influence on your success and that we were of significant help. You alone, however, developed the style with which your accomplishments were achieved.

I am still not certain how to define the "it" that you collectively possess. The fact that most agree the "it" exists is testimony in and of itself. My hope is that you will take your share of the special set of attributes given to your class, and translate this essence into a life that is as full and as spirited as the last four years.

William L. Stoye



Dedication

This year's Anchor is dedicated to a man who was special to all of us. He was our teacher and our friend. Not only did he tell us in sixth grade about the shocking changes we would experience in Junior High School, but also advised us on the pressures of the "Big School." Even during our senior year six years later, he was still teaching us, by showing that any problem can be dealt with through hope and prayers. He was also our friend. He supported us by giving us guidance and love throughout our years at Manchester. Laughing and crying with us, he gained our respect throughout our development. He will be remembered as our friend forever. His presence among us will be sorely missed, but we will always cherish his memory. We, the Class of 1987, dedicate our yearbook to Mr. Richard Pomeroy.

We are Family

Most of us have been together for twelve years now. We met on the first day of Kindergarden and have been friends ever since. After sixth grade we crossed the bridge from the Memorial School and together began our six year journey to graduation. We spent those years working hard, studying, making friends, having fun, and growing into our eventual role as seniors.

Throughout our years at Manchester High School we have grown together and formed a bond as a class. Whenever we turn our heads we know that someone will be there to make the job easier. With extra help in class, a pat on the back, or even a simple smile, we share the load.

Comparing class notes always made that chemistry quiz a bit easier or that English test a little more bearable. As classmates we have heard hundreds of oral reports and if we really did not hear them, we did our darndest to fake it. When you did not understand how to conjugate that verb, you knew someone would, and that they would be willing to help you see the light. We have struggled through the tests and reports that seemed to never end. Finally, when you thought you could not listen to another moment of history, the clock read two thirty.

However, it did not end there. We put on our sweats and laced up our sneakers to take to the fields or courts. With the coach directing us from the sideline we worked together to get that goal or those two extra points. We worked as a team.

And on weekends, there we were together again. Whether it be at Singing Beach, a high school dance or a Saturday night at the movies followed by a roast beef sandwich "late night" at Nick's, there were always members of the class of '87 to be found together. This class was a group of people who were unified.

All classes have bonds and friendships. This is hardly unique. The extent to which our class was able to come together as a whole so frequently was special. The respect that members of the class were able to show for the talents of individuals, whether these talents were skating, swimming, writing, debating, or art, was unique. What it really came down to was that the Class of 1987 was a class who cared. We have made memories that can never be replaced. From sharing blocks to sharing lunches to sharing problems, we have grown to be friends and to be a family. We are family.

We are Trendsetters

We have grown up in a time where the young Preppies of yesterday have developed into the notorious up-and-coming Yuppies in today's business world. Trends come and go, so that the only consistancy about "the 'in' thing" is that it is always changing. As a group, we are not preoccupied with keeping up with the fads. We are the generation of "Come on, Ma, this is the Eighties."

We are concerned with the modern day and the issues it presents. Fashion is dictated not by fad but by personal choice. Op and Jams represent surfing and summer sun. Esprit and Benneton popularize bright colors and prints. Suddenly it seems as though everyone is wearing Reebok shoes. Swatch comes out with colorful watches and then a line of clothing. Back from the past, paisley prints have made a comeback. Girls are wearing hair clips and banana combs.

The 80's has no music phenomenon like the Beatles of the 60's. Instead groups soar to the top and then seem to drop off the charts. The "top 40" is constantly changing as we flip around the radio dial from 'BCN to 'FNX to 'ZOU. Music of all kinds is popular from Madonna to Squeeze to the Violent Femmes. The enduring groups include music from the Talking Heads, Phil Collins, and Wham, and that of the Grateful Dead.

When we go out to the movies it might be to see Rambo II, Top Gun, Ferris Bueller's Day Off or Stand By Me. Or perhaps we instead rent an older popular movie for the VCR such as Risky Business, Sixteen Candles or Friday the 13th. If a movie isn't in stock, maybe there's something good on T.V. Popular shows include, "The Bill Cosby Show," "Family Ties," "Cheers," "Moonlighting," "Night Court," and "Hill Street Blues."

Nothing stays the same for too long anymore. The movies we go to see may only be on a limited run, the television shows we watch could be cancelled next fall, and the clothes that we wear might be unavailable in the stores next season having been replaced with something "bigger, brighter, or better." As we change, so do the fashions. While we might follow the trends today, the class of 1987 is destined to be the trendsetters of tomorrow.

TENTH

1997 is upon us at last and a few die-hard faculty members have organized a reunion to celebrate the class of '87's tenth anniversary in the "real world." Everyone was invited, the punch is getting warm, the streamers are hanging limply, and the school building is as deserted as during summer vacation. It seems that most everyone is just too busy to make it to this highly thrilling social gathering, though not too busy to find an excuse.

Jeff Arcari has detention.
Shari Axelrod is in L.A.
Kira Becker has been listed among the missing, and Brendan Tully is a prime suspect.
Toby Benn is waiting at home; Scott and Deveau haven't shown up yet.
Kirsten Bolten is still trying to serve the volleyball.
Grant Boyd is out with Coach Molea's sister.
Alexis Brown is the head instructor at Mitchell's Driving School.
Diana Burgess and Brett Crane went four-wheeling in Cybil instead.
David Caldwell is the owner of Dave's Dive Shop.
Chris Camerato is having her sunglasses surgically removed.
John Carroll is stomping grapes on the Vineyard.
Michelle Chaisson handles publicity for B & M Baked Beans.
Mark Coen is serving a term in a new Congressional office . . . as Enforcer of the House.
Maya Coleman is cruising around Oregon in one of her seven Rolls Royces.
Brett Crane finally found a cause.
Daryl Creed missed the bus.
Sean Daly owns Chess King.
Tasha Diephuis is at McDonald's eating a McDLT with Tibar, # 7, and the E-Block gym class.
David Donnellan was arrested for polygamy in Utah.
Kevin Donnellan waved as he ran by.
Anne Eppel is at a luau.
Kris Faller and Steven Speilberg are in California collaborating on a new movie.
Carol Finn is in New York City at the Rockettes auditions.
Chris Forte just graduated from dental school.
Dean Gannett owns a Harley Davidson dealership.
Sarah Gannett is President; Hugh Bethell is the "first man."
Jean Gould is late; she's picking up everyone else.
Lisa Hall is serving time in Hamilton.
Glenn Harrington is currently Mr. Universe and has just married a mermaid.
Jessica Hayes was kicked out of Harvard so she has become a Cambridge bag-lady.
Jay Herbster is still fixing his Mustang.
Margaret Jenner is home with Gary and their twins.
Geoff Johnson is providing entertainment for Mrs. Lipset.
Danny Keeler entered a Doug Flutie look-alike contest, but lost.
Michele Kershaw ran into a tree running through the woods to get here.
Jennifer Landry owns her own bakery.
Zach Leber has achieved worldwide recognition as the new Einstein but still can't tie his tie.
Sairey Leone is the new store manager at K-Mart.
Starr Lloyd is in another galaxy.
Carolyn Lynch runs a nursery school.

REUNION

David MacDonald is a caddy on the PGA tour.
Dawn MacDonald borrowed her boyfriend's car and has not shown up yet.
Janet MacDougall just met Mr. Right #4, 102, 673.
Heath Manthorne is Rocky XV.
Andrea Marston is out in search of Buckwheat.
Josh Marston still won't admit that he's a member of the National Honor Society.
Maureen Martinack surprised us all and is dancing on Solid Gold.
Heidi Meehan is the author of the best-seller 101 Ways to Wear a Long John Shirt.
Lynn Miller went to a frat party instead.
Kim Morin is manufacturing salt-and-pepper shakers.
Rob Mulloy is co-starring with Flipper on a successful new t.v. series.
Michelle Mundt still can't find a date.
Kelly Murray is still at B.U. visiting . . .
Ali Mustafa is at a Bruins game.
Mark Needham didn't know which car to bring.
Amy Nickerson is having a butt in the smoking area.
Jen Nicol is at a Dead show with Woody.
Renee Pauley is at the nursing home, visiting John.
Chris Perry is suffering from a bad sugar withdrawl.
Bob Pomeroy OD'ed on Pink Floyd; he should be hitting the Wall soon.
Heidi Rogers is trying to find Maya—her cat was stolen again.
Gina Romani decided to attend the Class of 88's 9th Reunion.
Gary Rudolph is still trying to figure out who's who.
Duncan Ryan is being treated for anorexia.
Sarah Ryan is starring on Broadway with Ralph.
Caroline Smalley is teaching stress management.
Craig Sweetser is still bagging at Browns
Amy Spence is at the Faller's family reunion . . . she and Kris are cousins, aren't they?
Bobby Spintig is a Marines' drill instructor.
Erik Swanson moved to Swampscott with Dot.
Jack Taylor has a court date.
Kate Thielbar is starting center for the Celtics.
Brendan Tully started shaving.
Derek Twombly is in Cambridge searching for Jessica.
Nancy Vutech was pulled over for speeding on the way here.
Eddie Young got bagged.
Mark Wysocki created a special sauce at Magnolia House of Pizza but won't disclose the mystery ingredient . . . . . .
Todd Zimmerman has not arrived; he's riding his bike.
Sean Field got mad and walked home.
Erin Sullivan owns her own tennis racket repair shop.
Kim Peterson is now the groundskeeper of Essex County Club golf course.
Suzanne Kellar is now living with Freddie on Elm Street.
Leah Wendt is starring in a new movie . . . Chew Chew Mr. Sheik.
Scott Zafiroupolo has Stopped Making Sense. and Lara Diephuis dared to be different; she showed up.

EVENTS

SPRING PROM 1986

The 1986 Spring Prom was held at the Hawthorne Inn in Salem. After dinner was served, the tables were cleared away to make room for a dance floor where the juniors and seniors and their dates danced until midnight to the music provided by a local disc-jockey. The staff at the Hawthorne Inn chose the queen and her court. Pictured on the right is the queen, Heather Harhay and her court, Heidi Meehan, Michelle Mundt, Shari Axelrod, and Carole Finn.

Academic Awards 1986

Zach Leber receives his Manchester Scholar Award.
Maya Coleman is commended by Supt. Lengeiza.
Maria Vasil accepts an award from Mrs. Kavanaugh
Josette Ghislene is congratulated by Mr. Stuart.

SPORTS AWARDS 1986

Maureen Martinack receives an award for softball.
Chuck Atwater presents Coley Jellinghaus with an award for baseball.
Anne Eppel accepts a tennis award from Mr. Nalley.
Coach York congratulates Diana Burgess on an excellent softball season.
Carole Finn entertains the audience.

"HAPPY TRAILS" TO MHS GRADUATION 1986

Four years of high school finally came to an end. The class of 1986 prepared to graduate. Friday June 13, 1986, the 62 graduates filed into the gymnasium to "Pomp and Circumstance" played by the MHS Concert Band.

The Class Marshall, junior Mark Coen, lead the class to their seats. Speeches were made by Deborah Skilton, Claudia Sonder, Jeff Weston, and Brendan Salter. Following the speeches, Deborah Skilton, Sandi Macklem, Nicole Senecal, and Maria Vasil lead their class in the class song, "Happy Trails." After scholarships were handed out, the class lined up to receive their diplomas.

Debbie Skilton, Peggy Wood, Tracie Murray, and Andrea Maio wait nervously before lining up for the Processional.

The class watches a slide show recalling their senior year at MHS.

Seniors ham it up for the photographer for a final shot before graduation.

Josette Ghislene receives her diploma.

Mrs. Peterson assists Liz Graham with her carnation.

Kathy Huber adjusts her hat before putting on her gown.

Brendan Salter receives an award from Supt. Lengeiza.

OUR TIME
A MUSICAL REVUE

The MHS Thespians presented "Our Time" to the school last spring. The show was a musical revue of songs from Broadway musicals past and present. The revue was under the direction of Mr. John Stuart.
